Why use DiSC Paper Assessments

“Have you encountered a training environment where it is impossible to go online?”

Or a situation where trainees insist that since it is a sensitive thing like behaviour that is being assessed they would find it more comfortable to mark their responses on a hard copy?

Why use DiSC Paper Assessments

DiSC Paper Assessments take into account these concerns and in spite of most applications having an online version, DiSC Profile has both the online version and the pen and pencil version.

The online version of of DiSC Classic are – DiSC Classic 2.0 and DiSC Classic 2.0 plus .

The pen and paper profiles are the Personal Development Profile and C-888 Classic Paper Profile.

Why use DiSC Pen and Paper Assessments?

DiSC Paper Assessment version is easily portable and simple to manage in any setting. It does not require huge paraphernalia like electricity, computer or a high speed internet connection.

The size of the audience or trainee group is never a hassle when using the pen and paper format, and the organisers need not be continuously plagued with requests for “one more system” or “more internet bandwidth”.

All that is required is, take the required number of copies based on the size of the training group.

And the trainer need not be concerned about exigencies a power outage or slow speed of downloading.

Why use DiSC Pen and Paper Assessments?

With huge training groups, facilitators may find it inconvenient to administer tests or assessments online since it could mean requirement multiple systems.

For such situations, a paper and pencil test proves to be a blessing.

This also applies to shorter duration training sessions done in small to medium sized businesses where infrastructure and space may be a constraint.

DiSC Paper Assessments understands the challenges and one of its most popular and robust tools, DiSC Classic is available in both the paper and pencil version and the online version.
